

For what it's worth

Music & lyrics Annette Campagne

For what it's worth I'm never really spot on There are days when it seems that everything goes wrong
But I leave it, it's so hard to leave it Tomorrow will bring what it may

For what it's worth, I don't always give up the fight to have things go my way and to always be right
But I leave it, it's so hard to leave it to throw it in the air and catch what falls

I want the fame
I want the fire
I want to be the only one that you desire
But the only thing that I know will get me by is my eternal flame
to write my name up in the sky

For what it's worth, I'm still falling through the cracks Think I can get away with sneaking in through the back
But I leave it, it's so hard to leave it
I believe I'm falling hard for you

I want the fame, I want the fire
I want to be the only one that you desire
But the only thing that I know will get me by
is my eternal flame
to write my name up in the sky

I want the fame, I want the fire
I want to be the only one that you desire
I want the fame, I want the glory
I want to be the only page in your story
I want the fame, I want the fire
I want to be your only gun for hire But the only thing that will get me by is my eternal flame to write my name up in the sky

Let you go

Music & lyrics: Annette Campagne

I've been wishing on all the falling stars Been looking out for life on Mars I've been trying to escape earth's gravity I've been smoking too many cigarettes Been giving air time to my regrets Been thinking about you and me I've been wearing this carpet thin Been wearing your shirt against my skin Thinking about how it used to be

Tell me how can I change
having everything to lose
into everything to gain
I think I know
I guess I have to let you go

You were the sky and I was the soil You were water and I was oil living proof that opposites attract But we were never homeward bound This love never left the ground
I guess that doesn't change the fact

Tell me how can I change
into everything to gain
Oh, does it show
that it still hurts to love you so Even though I know that I'm to blame

Oh, since you've been gone Oh, I carry on

Tell me how can I change
having everything to lose
into everything to gain
Oh, does it show
that it still hurts to love you so Even though I know that I am to blame
I think I know,
I guess I have to let you go

This life with you

*Music & lyrics
Annette Campagne*

Driving on automatic in the morning traffic
I slow down to a halt at fourth and main Feeling a bit deflated and unappreciated and for what, I cannot explain

Today I can't remember why we are together They say that it's for better or for worse Well maybe we're just jaded, maybe love's too complicated Until now we used to quench each other's thirst

*Can anyone tell me what we do it for
and if everything will be alright?
I'm hungry for something more
I seem to have lost my appetite for this life with you*

We started clean and urgent with bleach and detergent
We made up for what the other lacked
But now the honeymoon is over, the drunkard must get sober It's time to take our own projections back

*Can anyone tell me what we do it for
and if everything will be alright?
I'm hungry for something more
I seem to have lost my appetite*

I think we owe it to ourselves to go for something real Are you ready baby for the new frontier?

*Can anyone tell me what we do it for Well we do it for love alright
I'm hungry for something more Can you help me find my appetite
for this life with you*

Let temptation be

Music & lyrics Annette Campagne

Come on now, little girl, life is a game Sweet things come to those that like to play Come on now, sweet thing, it would be such a shame It's so much fun to be led astray

Which side are you on, where are you in the food chain, are you the predator or prey?
You're in the system now fingerprints and all so you might as well let me have my way

We all look to the sun
Obey the laws of gravity I'll be damned if I'm the one to satisfy your vanity
I'm gonna let temptation be

I made my bed long ago and I sleep just fine Offered up my heart to the one above And everyday is a sacred mystery when I rely on the strength of love

We all look to the sun
Obey the laws of gravity
I'll be damned if I'm the one
To satisfy your vanity
I'm gonna let temptation be

*I know the way come have some fun cause that's the way, my dear, the world is run I know the way, I know my soul
I don't need anyone to make me whole*

Chorus:

FREUDIAN SLIP

*Music & lyrics
Annette Campagne*

I get up
I say good morning to the ghost in the hall Drink my coffee and bounce off the wall Burn my toast and scrape off all the black I bite my nails on my way to work Don't make much money, my boss is a jerk I swear he just wants to get me in the sack

Oh, sometimes I'd like to leave the world behind Oh, at least until I get you out of my mind

Then I remember that you're not coming back and that I'm losing my grip I'll take my chances so give me a coin to flip so you can become just another Freudian slip

I get up
I pay my bills like a good girl should Swear on the bible and I knock on wood I wear a halo, but I know it doesn't fit I ask the ghost who lives in the hall
Why do we bother with life at all?
He walks right through me, doesn't care one bit

Oh, well I know I'm just killing time
Oh, at least until I get you out of my mind

Chorus

Well you saw right through me, you laid it on so thick
If I was the window baby, then I guess you were the brick,
The prick, the Freudian slip

Chorus

Sentimental journey home

*Music & lyrics
Annette Campagne*

She said to me "I'll be okay,
I know your heart's sinking like a stone
But there isn't any other way
This is something I must do alone"

She said to me "I'll be just fine, I know how to get along I was always just one step behind Now I'm the one who must be strong"

So don't be afraid for me
I'm not particularly worried
Going to set myself free to unearth what long ago I buried but would you stay with me
to see me off on this sentimental journey home

She said to me "I was so good at letting everything just slide But for once I stood my ground and the earth and sun did not collide"

So don't be afraid for me
I'm not particularly worried
Going to set myself free
to unearth what long ago I buried
but would you stay with me
to see me off on this sentimental journey home

I'm so glad to break the mould
I was so tired of the lies Never will my love be undersold
I know how you hate long goodbyes

Stay with me

Music & lyrics: Annette Campagne

I had a boyfriend, my favourite ex
With a dimple on his chin A dimple so exciting, so warm and inviting I loved to dive right in He would paint my toenails red bring me breakfast in bed I fell heels over head
That's when he fled

Life is much too short to worry
To take so seriously
Where you going in such a hurry
Why don't you stay with me

I had a buddy, my favourite tortured soul
We would party the night away We were more than just misunderstood and we both liked it that way But my heart was full of dread too much smoke in my head
"I've got to quit", I said
That's when he fled

Life is much too short to worry
To take so seriously
Where you going in such a hurry
Why don't you stay with me

I had a guru, my favourite human being
He said he was from up above
He said "Do not be frightened, for I am enlightened I will show you the ways of love" When I questioned where he led where angels fear to tread he turned on me instead That's when I fled

Life is much too short to worry
To take so seriously
Where you going in such a hurry
Why don't you stay with me

Life has no meaning

Music & lyrics: Annette Campagne

She's no ordinary woman but she leads a simple life Sings happy birthday to herself each year She holds her tongue but if you ask her for advice she'll never tell you what you want to hear

She's no ordinary woman
but she knows her place, the black and white and all the shades of grey For every line etched in her palm a story can be told Yeah but I can almost hear her say

She says life has no meaning except for the one you give it
Life has no meaning
It's more the way you live it

She's no ordinary woman
but she still has her doubts, her existential journeys to the core She knows that there are questions she won't have the answers to so she won't ask them anymore

except for the one you give it
Life has no meaning
It's more the way you live it

And me, I roll around in my drama Like a dog rolls in the dirt And she, she smiles and asks why I hold on to all that hurt, all that hurt

You gotta laugh

Music & lyrics Annette Campagne

There's a tear in the fabric of your sky So your illusions come crashing down
No, this is good, I swear, let it go I know you'll come around

So things didn't turn out the way you planned Even though you had thought them through You tell yourself there's something better Then you ask, "So now what do I do?"

*You gotta laugh
It's just too good And trust that things happen just as they should You gotta smile
For the tables will turn We get what we give So can we give Without knowing what we'll get in return*

There's a smile beneath all that rage
So you pick yourself up off the floor Shake the dust off of your senses
"What do I do it for?"

Maybe we do it cause inside of our doubts are born the embers of our faith The fire that keeps us going is fed by what we dare to create
